Rex Carnivali.—The enterprising young gentlemen who were at the head of the very successful demonstration on Mardi Gras day could take a similar part in the grand parade on the Fourth of July to good advantage. The procession, in fact, would be rather tame without some rich burlesques. The Mardi Gras boys could easily make their's the most interesting and enjoyable feature of the display, even if they could not make as large a tirn-out as before. We notice by the Steubenville papers that the "Wred Kross Krewe" of that town are reorganizing to take part in a grand hoodoo up there on the Fourth. There is yet plenty of time, and we hope that jolly old Rex will be persuaded to call his good and loyal subjects together for the purpose of representing the fudicrous part of the Nineteenth Century in the coming celebration. And perhaps it would be an interesting feature to represent the different nationalities, as upon Mardi Gras day. As for music, there will be plenty of it in the procession, and a burlesque brass band or so would not be bad. Let Rex summon his court to a conference on the subject, and let us have a little fun upon the 100th birthday of the nation.

A WITTY BONIFACE.—A "drummer" friend has handed us a printed circular issued by a cute Parkeraburg landlord, which is about as neat an illustration of American humor as we have seen for some time. The whole is well worth publishing, but we can only find room for the following extracts?

"On arrival, each guest will be asked how he likes the situation, and if he says the hotel ought to have been placed further up town, or drawn nearer the river, the location of the house will be immediately changed. Corner front rooms, up only one light, for every guest. and nis nair parted in the minder. Every guest will have the best seat in the dining-hall, and the very best waiter in the house.

"Any guest not gelting his breakfast red-hot, or experiencing a delay of fifteen seconds after giving his order for dinner, will please mention the fact at the office, and the cooks and waiters will be blown from the mouth of a cannon in front of the office. Children will be welcomed with delight, and are requested to bring hoop-sticks and hawkeyes to bang the carved rosewood furniture especially provided for that purpose, and peg-tops to spin on the velvel carpets. They will be allowed to bang on the planos at all hours, yell in the halls, slide down the banisters, fall down stairs, carry away dessert enough for a small family in their pockets at dinner, and make themselves as disagreeable as the fondest mother can desire.

"A discreet waiter, who belongs to the Masons, Odd Fellows and Knights of Pythias, and was never known to even tell the time of day, has been employed to carry milk punches and hot toddies to the guest's rooms in the evening.

"Every lady will be considered the belle of the house, and boys will answer the bells prompily. Should any row hoy fail to appear at a guest's door with a pitcher of ice water, more towels, a gin cock-tail and pen, ink and paper, before the guest's hand has left the bell knob, he will be branded 'Front' on the forehead and imprisoned for life.

"The office clerk has been carefully selected to please everybody, and can lead in prayer, play draw power, match worsted at any of the stores, shake for the drinks, play billiards, a good waltzer, and can dance the German, make a fourth at enchre, amuse children, repeat the Beecher trial from memory, is a good judge of horses, as a railroad or steamboat reference is far superior to Appleton's or anybody else's guide, will fiirt with any young lady and not mind being cut dead when 'pa comes down.' "The landlord will always be happy to hear that some other hotel is is 'the beat house in the country.' Special attention given to parties who can give information as to 'how these things were done in Yewrup.' The proprietor will take it as a personal affront if any guest on leaving should fail to dispute his bill." Anour the prettiest religious institu-tion we know of is the "Strawberry Festi-val." At this season, such festivals are held by almost all churches that are "short" in exchequer. They abound, in young people who like to do up their courting amid consecrated surroundings, and indulge in the searlet child of the forest, with a soupcon of sugar upon his foreicad, smothered in Alderney cream, while woolng each other, as they sip negus or lemonade.
